

All types of costs have to be taken into account.

- Related to study and construction
- Related to land acquisition
- Related to the use of the free land
- Related to the operation of the Structure
- Related to the life cycle cost - underground structures have generally a larger life span than above ground
- Related to the environmental Life cycle assessment